PROTECT YOUR SCORE

WHAT THEY DON'T TELL YOU

During tough times, many of us can get overwhelmed and go into over-drive to keep up with our financial pressures.

However, many people do not realise that a simple telephone call in trying to get a financial loan approval can affect our credit rating score.

We want to help protect you and your credit rating score.

HERE ARE OUR TIPS

- Make sure you do not finance any negative equity from a previous loan, which is where the value of an asset used to secure a loan is less than the outstanding balance on the loan.
- Pay off your debts when they fall due as per your loan agreements.
- Ensure that you keep a clear credit history with no payment defaults on any accounts.
- Avoid allowing your bank account/s to go into overdraft.
- Minimise the number of loan enquiries you make.
- Avoid taking out quick 'same day' loan approvals or short-term loans.
- Focus on saving for a deposit so that you can show a savings history with your finances.

Understanding the impact of financial decisions can often be more complicated than you think.

We always recommend that you seek professional advice before making any decisions.

DO NOT GET CAUGHT THE LITTLE THINGS REALLY DO COUNT

When we think about the little things that count... many of us will think about family, friends, and the security of our future.

However, have you ever thought about the little things in your insurance policies terms and conditions?

Insurance companies are great at creating a feeling of security for us and our loved ones; however, what happens when you need to make a claim?

Recently, we heard about an investor who tried to claim storm damage to the roof of their property. The investor lodged their claim in good faith, but the insurance company rejected it. The claim was denied because of a little hidden clause in the terms and conditions stating that the roof tiles' pointing must be replaced every ten years for the policy to remain current.

You may not understand the concept of roof pointing like many. Still, it is essential to read the terms and conditions of any insurance policy you enter to ensure that you are protected.

Any agreement's terms and conditions can be time-consuming to read, long, complicated, and confusing. However, if you want to be genuinely protected when making an insurance claim, you need to invest the time to read the little things that do count.

We are here to protect, give general advice and increase your wealth creation. However, we cannot read every insurance policy's terms and conditions as they are endless and ever-changing.

We strongly recommend that you read the terms and conditions of every policy or seek independent third-party advice before signing or committing to anything.

TIME TO HEAT UP OR COOL-OFF | WHEN WAS YOUR HEATING/AIR-CONDITIONER LAST SERVICED?

Did you know that most leading air-conditioning manufacturers recommend that you should clean your heating/air conditioner filters every two to three months?

However, the reality is that many of us never clean the filters and rarely have the unit serviced.

The legislation outlines that the tenant's responsibility is to keep the property, fixtures, and fittings clean and the investor's (landlord's) responsibility to maintain the property, fixtures, and fittings.

Cleaning and maintaining the filters are essential to care for the heating/air conditioner. However, based on current legislation, who is responsible for the cleaning and maintenance of the filters can be confusing.

Heating and air conditioning equipment should be inspected, cleaned, and serviced at least once a year, no matter what kind you have. The best scenario is to have the heating system checked in autumn, and the air conditioning checked in the spring.
